Richard Dreyfuss

A Conversation with Richard Dreyfuss

Academy Award winning Actor Richard Dreyfuss began both of his talks at Reinhardt by making an agreement with those in attendance. "I will answer any question honestly," he said, "but you must ask me questions." Both sides lived up to their side of the bargain.

After a brief introduction from President William Nevius, Dreyfuss stepped onto the stage in the Hoke O. Kelley Auditorium amid a standing ovation from the audience. His opening statement was sincere and heartfelt. "I grew up wanting to be an actor," he said, "but it was a much more complex goal than I had anticipated...there was a lot that I couldn't handle. But one of the things that I've always cherished is the privilege to do things such as these."

With a group of more than 250 students, faculty, staff and community members, Dreyfuss shared stories and answered questions about different aspects of his personal and professional experiences, ideas and opinions. When asked if he had done all he wanted to in life, Dreyfuss responded, "Yes, but it wasn't enough. I still want more."

Copper John began as a group of two students determined to use their musical talents for Christ. After that, the band grew to five dedicated members who love the Lord and want to tell others about Jesus. Jason Harwell and David Herndon write music and play the guitar, Jacob Travis plays the drums, Parks Carpenter is the auxiliary percussionist, and John Dunn plays the bass.

Even though two members of Copper John have graduated and moved on, their music is still here. It has imprinted itself in our lives and our hearts. Thank you for sharing your talents with us. Your music is a blessing from God and we have been privileged to share in that blessing.

Accomplishments of the SGA

The 2000-2001 Student Government Association accomplished a wide variety of items this year. From induction ceremony traditions to food service, SGA had a busy year.

Another important accomplishment for SGA was the selection of a new food service provider. Reinhardt students were looking for a change from their current provider and found it in the Aramark Corporation. After careful research, SGA decided that the student-oriented Aramark Corporation was just what the campus needed. Aramark has made valuable changes to the student dining experience such as a newly renovated Varsity Room.

Homecoming was one of SGA's most ambitious tasks. Homecoming Week 2000 was one of the most memorable Homecoming weeks ever. With the aid of the Student Activities Council and the Office of Alumni and Parent Relations, SGA planned and coordinated many activities, the newest addition being the Homecoming Parade. SGA, with the help of many hard working volunteers, put together a wonderful parade.

To deal with concerns about the College, SGA formed the Ad-Hoc Committee for Student Concerns. This committee was composed of students representing almost every aspect of the College and worked diligently to bring the concerns of the students to the College's administration.

SGA has many plans for the coming year and is looking forward to continuing its service to the students of Reinhardt.

Words from Coach Lenarz

The fall of 2000 was another successful step towards competitiveness in soccer at the four-year level. The Reinhardt College Eagles finished the regular season with eight victories and ten defeats.

The 2000 season will also be the year of wondering what could have been. Senior award winners Richard Marshburn and Unai Urresti were both lost for significant portions of the season due to knee ligament injuries.

"Losing those two to injuries really put a strain on us to compete at the level we were used to. It also made us a bit predicatble in how we played," said Coach Lenarz.

Nevertheless, other members of the team stepped forward and secured a very respectable record. With as many as nine freshman starting down the stretch, those players attained invaluable experienced that will pay off in the future.

The team had four different players receive mulitple postseason awards. Seniors Soren Overgaard, Unai Urresti, Benji Walton, and junior Joe Aaron were recognized for contributions on the field and in the classroom.

All in all, the Reinhardt Men's Soccer Team met many of their goals and can be proud in what they achieved.

"We know that success doesn't come easy. The foundation we have laid will begin to pay off very soon. More importantly, we can be proud in how we conducted ourselves as representatives of this college and what it stands for," stated Coach Lenarz.
