Center for Student Success

LOCATION

Bottom Level, Lawson Academic Center
Waleska campus

Tools for Success

CCS staff will provide you with the tools needed for academic achievement, including:

- Study skills development
- Subject-specific tutoring
- Research paper organization
- Time management tips
- Test reviews
- Preparation for graduate and professional school entrance exams

Study Group Schedule

Study topics, dates and times are announced via campus email, the CSS web page (reinhardt.edu/CSS) and Facebook: Reinhardt Center for Student Success.

Tutoring

If you need extra instruction in math, science, English or other disciplines, the Center for Student Success will work with you. You'll be tutored in a relaxed atmosphere where you'll set goals and work to achieve them. Staffed with professors, adjunct professors and students who have been specially trained as tutors, the CSS can assist you with your scholarly and/or professional pursuits.

Seminars and Workshops

Throughout the year, you can take part in seminars or workshops offered by the Center for Student Success and other offices or campus organizations.

Academic Coaching

ACADEMIC COACHING is a collaborative program which partners students with specially trained coaches. This individualized coaching process will help you clarify and reach your goals. The process is administered by the ASO office and provides structure, support and constructive feedback.

A student-driven process. An individualized approach.

Academic coaching is a student-driven process that is based on your personal definition of success. Your coach will serve primarily as a facilitator and ask questions that allow you to draw upon your own self-understanding and resourcefulness to create systems that work for you. After your strengths and needs are identified, an individualized approach toward studying is developed. Possible topics may include but are not limited to: time management, learning styles, note-taking skills, active reading strategies, test preparation and test-taking strategies. Because of the uniqueness of the partnership, regular meetings and progress reviews are necessary components of the coaching process.
